New Blues Revolution will perform at The Mint in Los Angeles, California on Monday, April 11. The show will begin at 9:15 p.m. The doors will open at 8 p.m. For those readers who have still not managed to peruse yours truly's plethora of previous pieces on New Blues Revolution, get on that. Until then though, here is some bare bones background on the act in question:

New Blues Revolution is a band from Los Angeles, California. Formed by Bill Grisolia (lead vocals and keys) and Chap Cooper (guitar). The present band roster also features Roger Beall (drums) and Bob Byrnes (bass). In a message via social media Grisolia described their signature sound as "a blues inspired [musical] journey . . . of Robert Johnson meets Quentin Tarantino via Pink Floyd."

As part of their new Southern California-based CD release tour for their new album To Hellendale And Back, the band they will be making a stop at The Mint. In a brief e-interview Grisolia commented on the venue and the tour. He said:

"The Mint is a pre-eminent and historic major music (and new music) venue in Los Angeles which has taken note of what the New Blues Revolution is taking to the streets of Southern California and beyond. They have invited us to share our brand of new blues - deep, soulful, contemporary - with their audience of musician's musicians, scenesters and real music lovers. They honor the recording and performing work we are doing which, with the release of our new EP To Hellendale And Back, reaches new ground lyrically and musically."

He concluded: "Big Lou Johnson, the number one Blues DJ in the US - star of 'Bluesville' BB King's radio show on Sirius FM will introduce us on stage. This Mint debut will be a night to remember! Don't miss it!"

Tickets for this New Blues Revolution show at The Mint (located at 6101 West Pico Boulevard in Los Angeles) are $8.00. Tickets and additional information can be obtained through the venue website. This is a 21 and over event.
